PART A 1: STRATEGIC OVERVIEW

Strategic Planning Process undertaken

The NYDA plays a lead in ensuring that all major stakeholder's, i.e. government, private sector and civil society priorities youth development and contribute towards identifying and implementing lasting solutions which address youth development challenges. The NYDA has provided interventions to young people with the aim of improving their livelihoods and increasing their economic participation. Whilst some of the products, programmes and services of the NYDA have continuously been improved throughout the years, the most crucial question is whether or not the current suit of offerings is still relevant to the needs of the young people of South Africa, are they delivered in the most efficient manner and where are the opportunities for enhancement based on current data intelligence.

The new Board of the National Youth Development Agency (NYDA) embarked on a two-day Strategy planning session, from the 08th – 09th June 2017. The aim was to reflect on the current challenges confronting the youth in our country and how the Agency needs to respond and pursue its mandate of advancing youth development in South Africa over the next three years.

In pursuit of its mandate, the Strategy session therefore sought, in particular, to:

- Reflect on the macro and micro environment characterizing the Agency.
- Plan for the current year (2017-18).
- Proactively anticipate and identify potential key strategic issues and shifts for the next 3-year term and enablers that will shape the long-term strategic plan of the Agency.

Reviewing, deliberating on the Strategy and charting the way forward, the Agency needed to reflect on the relevance of its Vision, Mission, and Values. Therefore, the Board saw the need to review the current Vision, Mission and Values in line with the country's youth development needs.

During the strategic planning session, the Board identified key strategic issues and enablers that will ensure maximum impact in programmes design, development, mobilizing stakeholders and creating opportunities for the youth in the various sectors of the South African economy. Strengthening the participation and voice of the NYDA in the policy and legislative space over the next three years is key. This necessitated the review of the Integrated Youth Development Strategy, introduction and inclusion of new Strategic Objectives in the Amended 2017/18 Annual Performance Plan going forward. For the NYDA to execute the 2017/18 APP, the focus had to be shifted from measuring achievement at an input level to measuring output and impact.

The Board and the Leadership Management also took a decision to align planning, budgeting, implementation, monitoring, evaluation, and improve quality of delivery of the programmes, products and services. The outcome of the workshop ensured alignment to the following:

- Integrated Youth Development Strategy and M&E Framework
- Conducted PESTEL and Situational Analysis (external and internal).
- Reviewed and updated 2016- 2021 five-year Strategy Plan (New Vision and Values, Key Performance Areas, Strategic Objectives and Performance Indicators.)
- Adopted outcomes of divisional and integrated strategic planning workshops

5 YEAR STRATEGIC OUTLOOK: STRATEGIC SHIFTS AS PER THE POLITICAL MANDATE

It is in 2014 when the new board was appointed at the NYDA. This was adopted as the year 1 of the Five-year cycle (2014 -2019) emanating from this, the NYDA board conducted a strategy review process effective from 2014/15 FY adopted and the journey has been articulated as follows:

YEAR 1 (2014-2015)	YEAR 2 (2015-2016)	YEAR 3 (2016-2017)	YEAR 4 (2017-2018)	YEAR 5 (2018-2019)

Overview of Budget Analysis for 5-year Cycle and MTEF estimates

a. Background

The National Youth Development Agency's main source of revenue is a transfer from the Department Planning, Monitoring and Evaluation. The transfer moved from R457 million in 2017/2018 to R462 million in 2018/2019.

b. Budget Analysis for 5-year Cycle

The National Youth Development Agency links its programmes to the Medium Term Strategic Framework outcomes of decent employment through inclusive economic growth, as well as nation building and social cohesion. The Economic Development, Skills Development and Education Programmes are aligned towards employment creation while the National Youth Service programme has both a skills development as well as nation building alignment.

The Agency will over the medium term implement internal and operational Programmes to address the MTSF outcome related to an efficient, effective and developmental orientated public service.

<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The appointment of the New Board to the National Youth Development Agency during the 2014/2015 financial year the NYDA achieved its first ever clean audit. • Furthermore, the appointment of the Board introduced a change in strategy which lead to change in programmes. The NYDA having it's Programmes revised, proved the NYDA to achieve it's set targets. Through the Economic Participation the NYDA assisted a total of 1 034 youth-owned enterprises or youth received NYDA grant funding. The NYDA achieved by 106,8% due to the approach used in graduating the businesses by introducing three thresholds of: R1 000 to R10 000; R10 001 to R50 000; and R50 001 to R100 000. The total number of grants equal to or less than the first threshold of R10 000 or less, is 514 (which accounts for 49,7% of the achievement) • Through the facilitation and implementation of education and opportunities in order to 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The NYDA sustained clean audit for the second year in a row achieving the highest performance in the organisation's history with 96% performance. • The need for the turnaround strategy seek to enhance a credible organisation, build human capacity and enhanced development efficiency, and to move from loan financing to grant finance, to increase focus on education and skills development, intensify job creation and implement youth development facilities, and this was successfully achieved. • The Agency further went through a restructuring process which was a successful completion of the organisational realignment and culture change programme, one of a handful of successful corporate restructurings completed within time and budget in the public sector • • The overall reduction of NYDA salary costs from R209 million to R143 million, which amounts to a 32% percentage reduction in the salary bill. 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • During the financial year 2016 – 2017 the NYDA was led by a Transitional Accounting Authority under the leadership of Dr. Ntsiki Tshayingca-Mashiya, through her leadership the NYDA sustained a third consecutive clean audit and a 100% achievement of all the set targets set for the 2016 – 2017 financial year. • Despite the reduction of the budget allocation from National Treasury, the NYDA was able to allocate more funds to programme due to significant costs savings through the relocation of the NYDA Head Office Operations, this resulted in allocating funds to critical areas of economic development, education and skills development. 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • In May 2017, the NYDA welcomed the term of office of the third Board of Directors led by Mr Sifiso Mtsweni. • Whilst sustaining the good governance of the NYDA, the Board of Directors introduced new strategic focus which amongst others is to make the NYDA visible and reachable to its target clients, to amend the NYDA Act from Section 75 to Section 76, the Board will also convene all Youth Directorates and Youth Units both in provincial and local government to ensure that the youth development programmes are aligned into one to allow the NYDA to coordinate the youth programmes. • The Agency with its targets set-out in the strategic objectives of its Annual Performance Plan, is archiving the targets set, with some targets being achieved much earlier than expected, through the Grant Programme the Agency is achieving more than expected and this provide positive impact of youth-owned enterprises 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The Agency will be revising the Act to align it with Section 76 of the PFMA, this will be the move towards establishing provincial offices, which will further focus on establishing 20 sites spread through towards all regional offices. • As one of the new key change in strategy to make the NYDA visible and reachable to its target clients, the establishment of the new 20 sites at the regions will seek to focus to provide Grants, to train the youth and most importantly to enhance Job creation to alleviate youth unemployment. • As Government, has adopted the Fee Free on Higher Education, the Agency will now focus on the youth between the ages of 14 years to 18 years of age whom have dropout of school but would like to come back and continue, by this the NYDA will provide the youth the opportunity to get educated. • The Agency will also look into creating a platform for youth to participate and benefit from

Thought Leadership

This element characterizes one of NYDA strategic objectives. As a thought leader, we need to understand where our clients are in the spectrum of new ideas in order to influence or support them with innovative and impactful content. The Integrated Youth Development Strategy (IYDS) is located within a rich legislative and policy framework, defined by the South African Constitution (Act Number 108 of 1996) as the supreme law of the country and guided by an internationally informed rights-based approach to growth and development. Thereafter, the IYDS responds to a number of pieces of legislation and policy, some more influential than others.

The IYDS should be seen as a national Strategy that encourages ongoing engagements and participation by all partners in Public, Private and Civil society. The success lies in the collective efforts of partners working together to ensure an empowered and enabled youth in South Africa. The Presidency is the custodian of the policy and provides oversight role for implementation and the NYDA should play a catalytic role and provide the support to the Office of the Presidency to allow the IYDS to gain the traction that is required for successful implementation.

As an idea generator and thought leadership organisation, NYDA’s should invest on innovative research and the creation of the Knowledge Hub for information storage and dissemination in the sector. Finally, as a thought leader, the NYDA should be able to challenge the existing norms and establish an alternative way of thinking and impactful solution provisioning, as long as these are supported with credible and fact-based research.

1. Situational Analysis/Macro Environment

In order to comprehend what constitutes the external environment in which the organization operates, a combination of key factors that shape the macro environment or the external operational environment were considered, i.e. the political, economic, socio-cultural, technological, and geographical factors (PESTLEG).

1.1 Political Factors

They determine the extent to which stability or instability and related factors may affect the immediate, medium-term and long-term plans of the organization, communities and the country at large. This is also exacerbated by the rise in violent protests of late, led mainly by the youth. This could indicate that the political environment may be more complex, meaning organizations have to sensitively tread the socio-political environment carefully and listen to the cries of the communities.

If the latest social activism trends (i.e. #FeesMustFall movement) at institutions of higher education and the BlackMonday protests against farm killings are reflective of the psyche of the nation then it means the country is experiencing a “step-up” in active citizenry which means there will be more pressure applied to government and the private sector to take drastic actions to close the gap on the three main challenges facing the country - unemployment, inequality & poverty.

The implications of the above scenario on the organization is as follows:

- The changing political dynamics could mean more pressure on the organization to be seen to care for youth, in practical terms.
- Today's youth is more informed and conscious of the past injustices and clearly are determined to redress past mistakes in workplaces and in the economy.
- Across the political spectrum, “economic transformation” is becoming a central theme that has led to serious engagement on economic policy issues including policies on mineral rights and so forth

1.2 Economic Factors

This pertains to elements of the local communities and the country's economic performance that have substantial long-term effects and immediately impact the communities and entities that the organization engages in its business.

According to the reflections espoused in the Department of Basic Education Strategic Plan, “(the South African economy relies heavily on the availability of human capital and the education sector is looked upon as the catchment center from which skills should be sourced in key subjects that drive the development of a healthy economy. The current situation is that the quality of education for the majority of school going children is still largely poor, meaning employment earning potential and career mobility is reduced for the future youth. This in itself limits the growth of the South African economy; hence there is pressure on the factor to turn around this status quo¹.” Many communities around the country especially in rural areas have limited economic activity and access to opportunities, which means that many young people that finish school, including higher education battle to find employment even opportunities for practical work experience.

This potentially has negative consequences on the attitude of youth towards education as they would see no correlation between academic success and economic emancipation. Most economists lament the fact that most of the unemployed youths lack skills in critical and scarce technical skills areas which can earn them instant entry into the workplace or business i.e. plumbing, welding, carpentry etc.

Where government is able to drive create opportunities is on the supply chain side of things, the undesired outcome of this is the mushrooming of “tenderpreneurship” amongst the youth. This creates a situation where most youths are mere “front-liners” who end up earning about 10% of the contract amounts, with little or no involvement/participation on the input side i.e. raw materials/equipment/technical skills side of the value chain where real money is made.

Therefore, all efforts to change the unemployment situation in the country requires a firm partnership with the Private Sector with clear and measurable targets. It is important therefore to develop a multi-level strategy that seeks to build a Private Public Partnership with the aim of getting all business and social partners to be involved in the overarching goal of getting the youths to gain entry into economic activity.

1.3 Socio-cultural Factors

These determine an understanding and evaluation of variables such as cultural trends, demographics, population dynamics, etc. that affect the community within which NYDA operates.

Some of these factors affecting the organization include:

- Low parental and guardian participation/involvement in key organization activities due to their absence (migrant labour, urbanisation and industrialisation). This has been proven to be one of the biggest contributors to poor youth performance especially in black communities; this puts a burden on the educational system as some issues in the schooling system require parental involvement and participation.
- The prevalence of the HIV/AIDS pandemic affecting youth and parents; teenage pregnancies affecting the girl child’s progress; alcohol abuse, drug abuse and rape in the community affecting youth.
- The reality of child-headed families is prevalent in the community; the consequence of this is the split of focus on the part of the affected youth as they have to play multiple roles in their homes, which includes parenting others whilst they themselves are young.
- Today’s youth wants instant results in everything they do, the tried and tested values such as patience are slowly diminishing in our society. This in many ways contributes to the high dropout rates at organizations, couple this with chronic poverty then we have a terrible combination facing the organization system.

- Entertainment is also viewed as an “escape route” by most youths to defocus from the challenges they face on a daily basis, this leads to alcohol and substance abuse which exacerbates other social ills in the community.
- The criminal underworld is capitalizing on the undesired socio-economic situations by exploiting the vulnerable youths to get involved in the trade and use of drugs in the organization environment.

The above analysis calls for partnership with relevant stakeholders as the organization on its own will not necessarily cope with dealing with all these challenges. It is important to note that if these aren’t addressed, the environment of teaching and learning will not be conducive for the organization to produce best results.

1.4 Technology Factors

Today’s youth are technology driven, depending on how it is viewed, it can be an enabler to advanced teaching methods and learning or it can be a distraction to the learning process if not used properly especially the social networks part of it. One thing for sure though is that the world has entered into the “4th Industrial Revolution” which many commentators term as the “Digital Age”, which means that all sectors are impacted by this mega trend.

According to the Financial Mail, October 12, 2017 issue, in an article titled “Robots are coming for your job”, it states “New technologies, especially robotics and artificial intelligence, are advancing faster than an average executive can keep track”. The consequence of this reality is that the future workplace operations will be ran by technology with fewer and tech savvy workers as seen in most industries already. The reality and implication of this is multifold, on the one hand it demands a paradigm shift on the engagement and programme delivery approach on the entire youth development spectrum, it also means that the youth are more attuned to learning and consuming content through available technological platforms.

The Education White Paper 7 provisions require a favorable IT infrastructure at local community level. A strategic partnership with local government and business towards creating this infrastructure is key. According to the Organization Digital Strategy developed by the Gauteng Department of Education, ICT in Organizations can play the following role:

“ICT can play a central role in transforming teaching, learning and assessment practices for staff and students, in a high-quality 21st century education system. The Department recognizes that staff and organizations are constantly engaged in enhancing how they teach, how their students learn and how learning is assessed. An essential part of this continuous improvement, in how we enable students to learn effectively, must be to further embed ICT into our education system at all levels.”

Harnessing the potential provided by technology and digitalization will enable the organization environment:

- To improve efficiency in provision of programmes whilst reducing labour and management costs.
- Reduce direct and indirect costs related to paperwork.
- To engage & integrate the youth, stakeholders and the organization in real time and this will forge a partnership for the sake of the youth.

1.5 Environmental Factors

These include all those issues that influence or are determined by the surrounding environment in which the National Youth Development Strategy operates, where our communities live or where our youth emanate from. This aspect of the PESTLEG is crucial for the organization management, the governing body and the department, as it mostly comprises those factors that the organization has to address through other role-players as it may fall outside its mandate.

Some of the key trends in this area include “Green Technologies” across industries driven by international treaties such as Climate Change Accord; New Urban Agenda and the Disaster Management Act, this presents massive opportunities for the youth across industries. The interventions that are identified can be concluded through Public Private Partnership.

1.6 Legislative Factors

Legislative, policy and regulatory factors have both external and internal sides. There are certain general government laws, policies and regulations that affect the business environment at NYDA. The organization has adequately developed policies that ensure proper organization management and regulate staff and youth towards the realization of the organization’s objectives.

The NYDA derives its mandate from the National Youth Development Act, which includes the following key objectives:

- Develop Integrated Youth Development Strategy and guidelines for implementation;
- Initiate, design, coordinate, evaluate and monitor all programmes;
- Guide efforts and facilitate economic participation, empowerment, achievement of education and training;
- Partner and assist organs of state, private sector, NGO's and community based organisations on employment and skills development initiatives;
- Initiate programmes directed at poverty alleviation, combating of crime, substance abuse, rural and urban development and social decay;
- Establish annual priority programmes; and
- Promote a uniform approach to youth development issues; and endeavour to promote the interest of youth.

The Policy Mandate and Related Imperatives

Alongside the Act are policy initiatives that also inform the policy and planning agenda for the NYDA, in particular but not limited to:

- i. The National Development Plan, Vision 2030
- ii. The NYDA Act;
- iii. The National Youth Policy;
- iv. The National Skills Accord; and
- v. Other NYDA policies.

Furthermore, the NYDA is closely focused on the following policy imperatives outlined in the National Youth Policy:

- Consolidate and integrate youth development into the mainstream of government policies, programmes and the national budget;
- Strengthen the capacity of key youth development institutions and ensure integration and coordination in the delivery of youth services;

- Build the capacity of young people to enable them to take charge of their own well-being by building their assets and realising their potential;
- Strengthen a culture of patriotic citizenship among young people and to help them become responsible adults who care for their families and communities; and
- Foster a sense of national cohesion, while acknowledging the country's diversity, and inculcate a spirit of patriotism by encouraging visible and active participation in different youth initiatives, projects and nation-building activities.

The National Youth Development Agency (NYDA) is a South African based agency established primarily to tackle challenges that the nation's youth are faced with. The Agency was established by an Act of parliament, act no 54 of 2008. The NYDA Act (2008) mandates the NYDA to develop an Integrated Youth Development Strategy for South Africa and initiate, design, coordinate, evaluate and monitor all programmes that aim to integrate the youth into the economy and society in general. The Act instructs the Agency to promote a uniform approach to youth development by all organs of state, the private sector and Non-Government Organisations.

The review process of the NYDA Act will result in the Legislation tagged from Section 75 to Section 76.

Youth development remains a global phenomenon and South Africa like many other countries, have policy prescripts and implements legislative framework that govern how youth development occurs. This strategy has therefore considered all approaches as guided by the policy.

The Integrated Youth Development Strategy (IYDS) takes into consideration all the priorities of the NYP (2020). It presents a practical plan on how these priorities will be implemented through programmes and focuses on ways to measure the success of the NYP (2020). It is believed that the Integrated Youth Development Strategy currently awaiting approval by Cabinet will resolve most gaps in the legislative environment.

Therefore, while legislators and policy-makers have been cognizant of international practice with regards to youth development, they have needed to design an approach which addresses the specific, and at times, unique circumstances of South African youth. The Integrated Youth Development Strategy (IYDS) is therefore a national response to youth development, taking into account both specific, historical imbalances, as well as the general challenges of global growth and sustainable development.

The IYDS should be understood in the context of the policy and legislative frameworks that have been developed in the country, as a whole, and with particular reference to the youth. This has been further informed by the IYDS process of development, one which has been characterized by research, synthesis, engagement, consultation and finally consolidation championed by the Presidency. In moving into implementation, it should be seen as a national strategy that encourages on-going engagement and participation by all partners: public, private and civil society. The success of the strategy lies in the collective efforts of key role players, working together to ensure an empowered and enabled youth in South Africa. The Presidency is the custodian of the IYDS and provides oversight role for implementation.

The gaps in the policy environment which need to be addressed includes amongst other things enabling the organization to have provincial structures, so that provincial governments are legally compelled to prioritize and budget for youth development unlike the current status where National treasury is the sole funder of NYDA.

The National Youth Service (NYS) aims to reconstruct South African society by developing the abilities of young people through service and learning. The organisation builds character and enables young people to give back to society. In addition, it addresses past racial segregation by enabling young people to share common space in such a way that they recognize a common humanity in each other. The National Youth Service Unit (NYSU) located in the NYDA has been tasked with the responsibility of overall coordination of the NYSP in all spheres of government, civil society and the private sector. In the quest to reposition the NYSP as a flagship programme of government, the NYSP National Coordination Framework was developed to provide clear institutional and implementation mechanisms. The development of the National Coordination framework involved consultations with key government departments, youth formations, as well as civil society organisations. The NYS framework has been approved by Cabinet in 2017.

1.7 Geographical Factors

These include circumstances associated with the physical location of the organization, which affects the beneficiaries that the organization services. They address the impact of localized conditions on political, economic and social aspects of a society.

- South Africa's spatial structure still resembles the old regime's design, whereby the urban spaces still receive investment as opposed to the development of the rural side of the country despite the government's drive to improve the latter.
- In some municipalities in mostly rural areas, still do not have viable economies that can maintain and sustain the livelihoods of the locals, as a result, youth migration to urban spaces is still a norm.
- The potential of small towns is not fully unearthed and enhanced, e.g. in agricultural, coastal, logistics, and mining towns have not been modeled to ensure customized capacity development initiatives that would assist them to generate revenue.

2. The Micro (internal) Environmental Analysis

This will assist the organisation in understanding progress towards the following issues:

- Systems: Operating Model and Business Process re-engineering
- People: Re-skilling, upskilling, Performance Management Review, Change Management and Employee Reward.
- Organisational Corporate Governance: Design and Development of the organisational structure.
- Resources required: Physical and Financial support.
- Technology: Integrated ICT Platforms to increase organisational effectiveness and efficiency

As a means to determine the core and support priorities of the organization, there is a need to determine the operational readiness and the current state of affairs at an organisational level.

3. Strategic Framework

3.1 Vision, Mission and Values

Vision

A credible, capable and activist development agency that is responsive to the plight of South Africa's youth

Mission

- To Mainstream youth issues into society and
- To facilitate youth development with all sectors of society

Values

- Integrity and Honesty
- Excellence
- Respect and Humility
- Professionalism
- Accessibility

3.2 Strategic Outcome Oriented Goals

The NYDA continues with its business of implementing youth development programmes directly. The focus of the Agency's business will still be informed by the following two of the five policy imperatives on youth development as contained in the National Youth Policy 2015- 2020 which are:

- Economic participation: is an essential national process, which engages citizens to contribute productively in an effort to eradicate poverty. This process is therefore equally important in the holistic development of the youth. The challenge is to enable the youth to contribute as productive citizens by shaping their talents and creative energies, equipping them with appropriate skills, and removing the barriers that may constrain their participation in the labour market.
- Education² and Skills Development: remains key to unlocking the future of South Africa's youth. Although there is documented evidence of improved educational attainment, there are still challenges that need to be addressed to rectify the imbalances in the education system.

² With the current status on lobbying to pass for Free Education, the NYDA will have to collapse the Education deliverable and incorporate it into the Economic Participation Pillar

- Social Cohesion and Nation building: For nation-building, class and racial inequalities pose a barrier, they foster mistrust among South Africans weakening the national identity. Thus, inequalities must be redressed, and “youth should be exposed to positive constitutional values that promote a South African identity based on unity, freedom, and equality”.

4. Strategic positioning and execution

4.1 Governance Structure

The executive authority for the professional management of The National Youth Development Strategy rests on the Executives supported by the Organization Governing Body (NYDA BOARD), the Organization Management Team and various sub-structures.

The current composition is as follows:

- a. Organization Management Team
- b. Organization Governing Body
- c. Internal Organization Committees/Structures

4.2 The Value Chain

As a means to determine the amount of value that is delivered by the organization in both the core business and support business, there is a need to analyze the current setup of the organisation resulting in identifying value adding activities or resources (must have) of the organisation from wasteful (nice to have) activities or resources. This will position the organization towards the delivery of the identified strategic outcomes and the realisation of its vision and mission.

4.3 Stakeholder Identification and Analysis

A more instrumental definition of who the stakeholders should be identifies them as those groups or individuals without whose support the organization would be dysfunctional. When these stakeholders have been identified, there is a need to analyze them to determine the value they bring to the organization and the value that they derive from the organization. In the absence of this analysis, the organization may find itself in a danger where particularly powerful and well connected stakeholder can have a greater influence on decision-making outcomes than more marginalized groups; a problem that is especially acute in sectors that influence socio-economic and political outcomes, such as organizations.

A more pragmatic stakeholder analysis method should be largely devoted to understanding how the organization, projects and policymakers can identify, explain, and manage the behavior of stakeholders to achieve the desired outcomes, thus improving the strategic management and the performance of the organization.

In line with the above, the following stakeholders were identified and categorized as internal and external stakeholders:

INTERNAL STAKEHOLDERS	EXTERNAL STAKEHOLDERS
Organization Management Team	Board of Directors
Staff	Government Departments/entities/agencies
Branches	Presidency
	District Management
	Private Sector
	Youth formations

5. Support Strategies and plans for executing the Strategy

This serves as the key document which brings the objects of the organization's Strategic Plan into implementable chunks of work, be it in the form of programmes or projects.

5.1 Financial Plan

The organization's portfolio and its growth over the years will determine the extent of implementing the Annual Operational Plan. Therefore, the Financial Plan has to map out such elements as the funding model; budget process aligned to the objectives; expenditure estimates and expenditure trends over the medium-term; and financial accountability structures, in line with applicable government legislation such as the PFMA, relevant policies and regulations.

5.2 Technology Infrastructure and Plan

As part of modernisation, the provisioning of technology solutions that enable the smart execution of the organization's mandate is critical. This is in line with the implementation of Education White Paper 7 which "revolves around the use of ICT to accelerate the achievement of national education goals. It is about connecting youth and staff to each other and to professional support services, and providing platforms for learning. It seeks to connect youth and staff to better information, ideas and one another via effective combinations of pedagogy and technology in support of educational reform".

5.3 Human Resource Management and Development Plan

The staffing plan is intended to ensure that the organization is adequately supported with skilled human resources that are sourced in line with the strategic objectives of the organisation in order to ensure the implementation of the mandate towards the realisation of the organization's vision.

5.4 Physical infrastructure Plan

This plan should derive from the Organisational and Structural Design, as approved by the relevant bodies, in line with applicable legislation and sector policies; as it ensures the strategic positioning and readiness of the organization in relation to the services it renders to the communities it serves.

5.5 Communication Strategy and Plan

The intent of the communication strategy and plan, among others, is to ensure that the organization is properly profiled; identified stakeholders are constantly engaged in relation to the objectives of the organization; etc. It serves as a tool for ensuring that the values of the organization are realised in the implementation of its mandate.

5.6 Risk Management Plan

Obstacles that affect proper management of the organization and the realization of the organization's planned outcomes need to be identified and managed through the development of a risk management plan. This plan should incorporate identified risks that are approved by the MANAGEMENT, in consultation with the NYDA BOARD.

5.7 Stakeholder Value Management Plan

a. Stakeholder Engagement Plan

The Stakeholder Engagement Plan should form part of the organization's Communication Strategy and should be a product of at least the following process:

- Determining the focus areas of operation and identifying boundaries within which the organization should operate;
- Identify stakeholders and their stake in the running of the organization; determining the relationship which the organization should have with these stakeholders; and differentiating between and categorization of these stakeholders; and
- Determining the actions or activities that should be engaged between the organization and these identified stakeholders; and developing a Stakeholder Engagement Plan with activities.

To engage young people in Service activities geared towards fostering patriotism. The aim is to improve access to quality education, to facilitate and implement skills development programmes and offer scholarships assistance.

Implementation is at the following Strategic Objectives:

- To facilitate and implement skills programmes

RE: SUBMISSION OF THE EXTENDED NYDA 5-YEAR STRATEGIC PLAN 2014/15-2019/20

Dear Honorable Minister,

The 2019/20 financial year is the last year of the 2015-2020 planning cycle. It should be noted that there is a one year time-lag between the electoral cycle and the government planning cycle. The NYDA developed and tabled an Amended 2014-2019 5 -year Strategic Plan and subsequently will re-table the 2019/20 Annual Performance Plans following the general elections in 2019. The re-tabled Annual Performance Plans will reflect the new priorities and commitments of government and will be based on the existing 2014-2019 Strategic Plan.

Further to this the Circular indicates that at the beginning of the new planning cycle (2020-2025), the Agency will be required to develop the Strategic Plan (2020-25) and Annual Performance Plan (2020/21) for tabling in March 2020. The current 2014-2019 Strategic Plan does not cover the 2019/20 financial year and the Agency requested an extension of the current Strategic Plan period to accommodate the final 2019/20 financial year by including amendments to the Strategic Plan as an annexure to the 2019/20 Annual Performance Plan.

The NYDA is hereby submits its Annual Performance Plan 2019-2020 to be endorsed by the Executive Authority, the Honorable Minister in the Department of Planning, Monitoring and Evaluation.

Your Sincerely,

Mr Waseem Carrim
NYDA Chief Executive Officer

APENDIX: EXTENDING THE 5-YEAR NYDA STRATEGIC PLAN 2014-2019 TO 2019-2020

The Framework for Strategic and Annual Performance Plans (2012) provides that “A Strategic Plan may be changed during the five-year period that it covers”. However, such changes should be limited to revisions related to significant policy shifts or changes in the service delivery environment.

In line with the communique which was sent by the DPME for the attention of all Heads of Constitutional Institutions in respect of the preparation and (re)tabling of strategic plans following general elections in 2019, it was stated that institutions whose plans do not cover the 2019/20 financial year are advised to amend their Strategic Plans by adding an Annexure to the 2019/20 APP to cover the 2019/20 financial year. In view of this, the National Youth Development Agency adjusted some of its strategic objectives and programme performance indicators and these adjustments were reflected and are being carried through in 2019/20 financial year.

This Appendix to the National Youth Development Agency 2019/20 APP accordingly confirms that the organisation’s 2019/20 APP is based on its current Strategic Plan (2014-2019) and serves to amend the Strategic Plan to cover the 2019/20 financial year.

The below table indicates that amendments to the 2014-2019 Strategic Plan to include the 2019-2020 Annual Performance Plan
